Activity in Burlington: Vermont Discovery Cruises adds a custom pilot house to it's yacht by crane.

Vermont Discovery Cruises announces action on the Burlington Waterfront tomorrow April 2nd at 9:00 am behind Echo at the Leahy Center.

Burlington, VT- April 1, 2008 Vermont Discovery Cruises is pleased to announce that the new custom built pilot house shall be affixed to the top deck of the Moonlight Lady by crane on the morning of Wednesday April 2nd, 2008. The new pilot house shall be delivered by flatbed truck from North Hero down Route Two and into downtown Burlington to the University of Vermont dock behind Echo at the Leahy Center for Lake Champlain, located at 1 College Street Burlington, Vermont. The crane shall place the pilot house onto the sky deck of the Moonlight Lady at approximately 9:00 am.

The construction of the pilot house took place over the course of the previous seven weeks, and was completed by ship builders employed by Green Mountain Boat lines, Vermont Discovery Cruises parent company. The fabrication took place at Joe's Welding shop in Colchester Vermont.

The new pilot house will serve as the operational hub of the yacht, and also serve as a wonderful place for guests on the Moonlight Lady to converse with the Captain and experience navigation up-close. Over triple the size of the previous pilot house, the new one will feature sliding glass windows, two points of entry, passenger observation accommodations, and a spectacular 360 degree view of the lake. The interior will feature leather seating and a new custom mahogany and brass ships wheel. The builders have installed a new instrument panel and have outfitted the pilot house with heat and air conditioning.
